OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.

The News.

There is nothing of a peculiarly startling character in our dispatches to-day. The official report of Lieut. Cushing in his expedition to destroy the rebel ram Albatross, shows it one of the pluckiest feats of the war.

The oily-gammon traitor Seymour isn't afraid his friends will do any thing improper during the election, but is alarmed lest the military should interfere, and therefore issues a proclamation for the Sheriff in the various counties to arrest naughty men with blue clothes on.

The war democrats, who held a convention in New York this week, passed a series of resolutions which democrats who love their country better than party, will do well to read.

Pendleton's "Old Faith."

The Copperheads,—thoroughly frightened by the October elections and the general enthusiasm of the people for the restoration of the Union, have forced their tongue-tied and pen-tied candidate for the Vice Presidency to utter some words which sound like a regard for the land in which he was born. Mr. Pendleton says in his letter, "I make no profession of a new faith, only repeat my reiterated professions of an old one." Now what was Pendleton's "old faith" which he thus reiterates? He said in Congress:—

Sir, the whole scheme of coercion is impracticable. It is contrary to the spirit and genius of the Constitution.

And again:—

If you find conciliation impossible; if you find differences are so great that you cannot or will not reconcile them, then, gentlemen, let me recommend to you peace; let them establish their government and empire, and work out their destiny according to the wisdom which God has given them.

Such is the "old faith" in which Mr. Pendleton has heretofore believed; he himself declares that he has no new one.

AN EXAMPLE FOR ALL OF US.—Nearly all the Ohio troops with Gen. Sherman were forced to vote while on the march, and subject all day to attack from the rebels. The polls were held in the ambulances following the regiments. The men were sent to the rear by squads to fight the enemy at home with ballots, which they would do with a hearty good will and then return to their positions, and with bullets open out again upon the foe before them with renewed vigor and increased zeal.

What a shining example for Union men at home who regard the trifling inconvenience of registering their names a great bore!

Dr. McDonald, Superintendent of the Money Order Office of the Post Office Department at Washington, has completed the necessary arrangements for the introduction of the postal money order system, and it has gone into operation. The offices thus far disengaged, number one hundred and forty-one, and the number will be increased as the system is further developed. Specified amounts of funds have been set apart for the Post Masters to commence with and deficiencies will be supplied from the New York Post Office.

THE EPIDEMIC AT NEWBURN.—A letter from Newburn, N. C., states that the yellow fever is still raging there. Active measures have been taken by the commandant of the post to prevent its spreading among the troops. Soldiers are not allowed to visit the city.

THE GENERAL HOSPITAL now organizing at Troy, N. Y., is a large establishment. Twelve buildings are now in course of construction—each of which will hold sixty patients. Dr. Hubbard is the surgeon in charge.

A WOMAN in Michigan lately took hold of what she supposed to be a stove-holder on the floor of her kitchen, and found it to be a large rattlesnake. She escaped being bitten, but how, is a mystery.

BRIGHAM YOUNG has just finished a tour among the southern settlements in Utah. He visited thirty-seven of them and spoke thirty-nine times—"greatly edifying the Saints," the Deseret News says.

THE Louisville Journal publishes figures to show that five thousand five hundred slaves have left their owners in less than one-fifth of that state, since the war began.

It is announced that Mr. R. Ten Broeck, the American horse jockey of England, is about to retire from the turf. His horses are advertised to be sold in one lot.

THE FORTY-SECOND REGIMENT.—We see by the St. Louis Democrat, that four companies of our 42d regiment are at Springfield, Ill., doing guard duty.

GEN. WASHINGTON was at Memphis on Monday, as also was Admiral Lee, who is to take command of the Mississippi squadron.

A COMPANY has been chartered to bring water into New London, Connecticut, from an elevation of one hundred and seventy feet.

OUT-WEALS have been struck in Southern Ohio and Northern Kentucky. Of course there is a great excitement in that region.

THE skaters in Troy, New York, have already organized their skating clubs for the winter. Willard Gay is president.

It is proposed to establish a "Nevadaya" Home in Pittsburg. A committee of citizens has the subject in charge.

State News.

The Appleton Crescent says, a new iron foundry is to go into operation at that place this week. The Friendship, Adams Co. Press says: Some fensish bound fit only for the hangman's rope—too mean to breathe the pure air of Wisconsin, has been engaged in the nefarious business of burning hay on the marshes south of this village.—The Portage City Register says: The name of the Post Office at East Randolph, in Columbia County, has been changed to Westford, Dodge County. James Knowles, Esq., is retained as Post Master.

The Richland County Observer notes a shooting affray at Richland Center, in which one J. L. McKee was fired at by W. Crawford from a concealed pistol, but as it was knocked down by a bystander, the ball entered the floor. Major W. H. Hamilton, of the 30th infantry, is now at Spring Green, Sauk county, on sick leave from his regiment. He was badly wounded in one of the seven days battles on the Potomac, this summer, and has not yet recovered. A ball is lodged in one side of his face, below the cheek bone, paralyzing one side of his face. Major H. was a sergeant in the 6th Battery, and by energy and worth procured a captaincy in the 36th infantry last spring, from which he was promoted to the majorship of his regiment.

The Watertown Democrat says the Jesuits have been holding a series of largely attended meetings there. It notices a new came crusader, invented by A. B. Stevens, lately of this city, and building at the Vulcan Iron Works. It says it works admirably, and green cane was squeezed so dry that it burned readily after once passing through the mill.

GATHERING SPONGES AT THE MANAHAS.—The sponge business is largely pursued at the Manahama Islands. The exports of this article amount annually to about $200,000. It is almost entirely the growth of the last twenty years. During that period, the article has almost quadrupled in value, and has been applied to a great variety of new purposes, especially in France. The sponge is compressed in powerful presses and sucked like cotton. It is assorted and graded, samples being fastened on each package, to show its fibre. It is fished, or raked, or grappled up from the sandy bottom, at the depth of twenty, forty or sixty feet, and often far from the shore. The water is so transparent that the growing sponge is visible on the bottom. The sponge is the covering, the habitation of the lowest order of animal nature in the water. When first taken from the water the sponge is black, and immediately becomes offensive to the smell; it will almost choke the flesh it touches to blister. The first process is to bury it in the sand, where it remains for two or three weeks, when the gelatinous animal matter seems to be destroyed, or eaten by the insects that swarm in the sand. The boatmen who obtain it are paid in slaves by the owners of the boats. This, therefore, becomes precarious, and semi-gambling, like wrecking, highly attractive to the colored population.

A NEW DODGE OF UNION SHARPSHOOTERS.—The Richmond Examiner of the 7th says the following to the tribute of our Yankee sharpshooters:

"Conceive a line of battle beyond a breastwork; each man squatted completely out of sight, firing over his shoulders, while, instead of exposing his head and hands to the advancing Confederates, he looks away from the enemy, and narrowly examines the stock of his gun. Two little mirrors scientifically placed at the proper angle and attached to the stock, enable the soldier to see the sight on his barrel and everything that comes within range without exposing any part of his precious person."

In March of 1845, nearly twenty years ago, Mr. Parker, tax collector of Manchester, N. H., was murdered and robbed of a large sum of the city's money. Several persons were arrested at different times, but all acquitted, and until recently the perpetrator has remained unknown. The Portland Press states that a man named Blake has been arrested at Milford, Me., on the charge of being the guilty party. The arrest was made in consequence of the death-bed revelations of a woman who died lately in Manchester. Blake formerly lived in that city.

RAG GATHERERS IN THE ARMY.—A correspondent in the army of the Potomac writes that "rag men are here buying up and gathering old woolen and cotton rags at every place they can find them, and paying for the rags as high as eighteen cents per pound. These rag collectors visit the field of conflict and the hospitals, and buy and gather up the bloody bandages and bloody cloths, the property of wounded soldiers."

THERE was recently a trial of speed near Fortress Monroe, between the iron-clad Stryges and Cumotous. Both are of the monitor class, and they were launched about one year ago. The distance over the course was eight and one-half miles, and they came to the buoy together in sixty four minutes. The water was rough at the time. The trial of speed was considered as highly satisfactory.

WISER THAN HE INTENDED.—The New York News says that "human nature cannot be outraged without treasuring up the wrong and working out retaliation." A wiser saying never dropped from the pen. The "retaliation" which human nature is now inflicting upon this nation for the outrage of slavery is the result of two hundred years of wrong, and is likely to be commensurate with the enormity of our crimes.

The soldiers in the army have a double battle—wre a single one. They handle bullets and bullets. They ask us only to use the bullets as faithfully as they use either bullets or bullets. And we should consume with shame and perish from among men, if we allow our brothers in the field to be turned back and rear by a rebel victory at the Northern polls.

Dono, the Indian conspirator, who has been staying at Winsor, O. W., is now at Toronto.

The War Democracy.

NEW YORK, WEDNESDAY, NOV. 2.—At the New York Convention the following preamble and resolutions were adopted unanimously:

WHEREAS, A crisis has arisen in the history of our country threatening by armed rebellion the destruction of the National life, and persons under the name and prestige of Democratic character, misled by the delusions of party, or acting from treacherable motives, are aiding the rebels and injuring our prospects, all true Democrats are required by their loyalty to the Government which our fathers in their wisdom founded, and by their labors and sacrifices sustained, to express openly and by some authoritative organ their devotion to the cause of their country, and their views on questions of policy involved by its present condition, and to lay before the world the real principles of Democracy. It is therefore

Resolved, That we, Democrats, will sustain the war, as we accepted with entire unanimity the gage of battle when forced on us by the rebels at Fort Sumter. We will not shrink from consequent suffering and privations, but scorning the suggestions of craven submission, will boldly carry it through in spite of error and reverse until victory shall crown our exertions and peace founded on Union be restored.

Resolved, That although in the commencement inexperience may have led to error and mistake, we believe the war, at the present time, is pressed with commendable energy, and with remarkable success, and we should deprecate any change in public affairs that might result in removing from the commands of the army Generals Grant, Sherman and Sheridan, and from the Navy Admirals Farragut, Porter and Winslow.

Resolved, That we do not admit the war under these leaders to have been, in any respect, a failure. We point to the fact that the greater portion of the rebellious States have been recovered, and all but few vessels of the rebel navy destroyed, which proves that the gratitude of the nation is due to the noble sailors and soldiers whose united patriotism and invincible courage, have brought us to the verge of final victory.

Resolved, That it is neither good policy nor compatible with the dignity of our Government to request a cessation of hostilities, nor offer terms of settlement till the rebels have expressed a desire, which they have hitherto invariably, and, in the most insulting language disclaimed to return to the Union; but if such desire be properly expressed with guarantees of good faith, the greatest liberality, both towards their persons and property should be extended them, allowance being made for delusions and deceptions that have been practiced on them.

Resolved, That while we admit of occasional acts of weakness in the Administration, we accept the constant duty of supporting and strengthening it, without regard to the party affinities of the incumbent, and utterly repudiating the doctrine of secession, we favor the employment of the most vigorous measures for the restoration of the Union, with its obligations unaltered and our integrity unimpaired.

Resolved, That, believing war indefinite of our laws and liberty eminently just, we see no reason for suspending it till its object has been accomplished, knowing that mere delay strengthens the rebels by enabling them to enforce their conscription, to complete their fortifications, fill their storehouses, and replenish their armories, we consider that all legitimate means of honorable war may be employed in aid of our cause.

ECHOES.—The best echoes are produced by parallel walls. At a villa, near Milan, there extend to parallel wings about fifty-eight paces from each other, the surfaces of which are unbroken by doors or windows. The sound of the human voice, or rather, more quickly pronounced, is repeated forty times, and the report of a pistol from fifty to sixty times. Dr. Plot mentions an echo in Woodstock Park, which repeats seventeen syllables by day, and twenty by night. An echo on the north side of Shipley Church, in Sussex, repeats twenty syllables. There is also a remarkable echo in the venerable Abbey Church of St. Albans.

PATRIOTISM emanates from the heart, fills the soul, infuses itself into the whole man, and speaks and acts the same language. A friend of his country in war, will feel, speak and act for his country; reverse his country's cause, and hate his country's enemies. American wants no friend, acknowledges the fidelity of no citizen, who after war, has declared, condemns the justice of her cause, and sympathizes with the enemy. All such are traitors in their hearts.—Stephen A. Douglass.

Some one has thus defined a kiss:—"There's a formal kiss of fashion, and a burning kiss of passion, a father's kiss, a mother's kiss, and a sister's kiss to move; there's a traitor's kiss of gold, like a serpent's clammy fold; and a first kiss, a stolen kiss, and a thrilling kiss of love; a meeting kiss, a maiden kiss, a kiss when fond hearts sever, but the saddest kiss on earth is this—a kiss to part forever."

PLANTING RED CEDAR SEED.—W. P. Strong, of Illinois, asks how to prepare and plant the seed of the Red Cedar. The seeds of the Red Cedar he on the ground a year before vegetating. When the seeds are ripe they can be mixed with sandy soil and kept in boxes, or they may be sown thickly in a dry soil and remain for a year, at which time they can be taken up and sowed in the regular manner.—B.

A MONTHLY paper of Friday, the day after the raid upon St. Albans, has this: "Mr. George N. Sanders, the well known agent of the Southern Confederacy is in town." What connection this arrival may have with the raid can be guessed from the fact that one of the robbers telegraphed to Sanders thus:—"We are captured. Do what you can for us."

SCARCITY OF CENTS.—The scarcity of cents continues to be the subject of general complaint, though they are being coined at the Philadelphia Mint at the rate of about $100,000 worth per month, and are distributed as fast as coined. The scarcity is undoubtedly caused by people who hoard them for sale at the high premium paid for them.

HARRISBURG, Pa. Nov. 2.—The official vote of 41 counties has been received at the Secretary of State's office. The following are the aggregate results, including the soldiers vote, Union 190,737, Democratic 176,698. Union majority 14,039.

A REMARKABLE ANECDOTE.—Lord Craven lived in London when the last great plague prevailed. His house was in that part of the town called Craven Buildings. On that sad calamity the growing epidemic, his Lordship to avoid the danger, resolved to retire to his seat in the country. His coach and six were accordingly at the door, the baggage put in, and all things in readiness for the journey. As he was walking through the hall with his hat on, his cane under his arm putting on his gloves, in order to step into his carriage, he observed his negro, who served him as a postilion, saying to another servant, "I suppose my Lord's quitting London to avoid the plague, that his God lives in the country and not in town." The poor negro said this in the simplicity of his heart, as really believing in a plurality of Gods. The speech, however, struck Lord Craven very sensibly, and made him pause: "My God (thought he) lives everywhere, and can preserve me in town as well as in the country, I'll en say where I am. The ignorance of that negro has preached a useful sermon to me—Lord pardon that unbelief, and that distrust of thy Providence which made me think of running away from thy hand." He immediately ordered his horses to be taken from the coach and the luggage to be brought in. He remained in London, was remarkably useful among his sick neighbors and friends, and never caught the infection.

ONE OF LAMB'S BEST.—Lamb once consulted a company with an anecdote of Colridge which, without doubt he hatched in his brain. "I was," he said "going from my house at Enfield to the East India house one morning, when I met Colridge on his way to pay me a visit. He was full of some new idea, and, in spite of assuring him that time was precious, he drew me within the gate of an unoccupied garden by the roadside, and there, sheltered from observation by a hedge of evergreens, he took me by the button of my coat, and, closing his eyes, commenced an eloquent discourse, waving his right hand gently as the musical words flowed in an unbroken stream; but the striking clock recalled me to a sense of duty. I saw it was useless to attempt to keep away, so I took advantage of the absorption in his subject, and with my penknife quietly severing my button from my coat, I fled. Five hours afterward, in passing the same garden on my way home, I heard Colridge's voice; and on looking in, there he was with closed eyes, the button in his fingers, and the right hand gracefully waving, just as when I left him. He had never missed me."

A TOUCH OF NATURE.—A car full of passengers passed over the western railroad, in which a simple but touching scene occurred, worthy of record. One of the passengers was a woman carrying in her arms a child, who wept every one by its petulance and crying. Mile after mile the passengers bore the affliction of its noise, which rather increased than diminished, until at last it became furious, and the passengers nearly so. There were open complaints and one man shouted, "Take the child out!" The train stopped at a station, and an old gentleman arose and made the simple statement that the father of the child had died recently away from home; that the mother had been on a visit to her friends, and had died while on that visit; that her dead body was on the train, and that the child was in the arms of a stranger too. It was enough. There was a tear in nearly every eye, and all were melted into pity and pain. All selfishness was lost in thinking of the desolation of the poor little wanderer who would have found a warm welcome in hands which a moment before would almost have visited it with a blow.—Loveslifter.

A SCOTCH PLEA.—A story is told of a person presenting himself to the gold wife in a remote district, and asking for a pound of butter. "The ounce weights" were rummaged over and over, but the "pound-stone" was nowhere to be found—the smallest weight at hand being the meane stone quarter, which obviously would not do. The honest woman took a long thought, till, whilst pondering deeply, her brow brightened up. "I ken how we'll manage it now!" she exclaimed. "The guide man brought hame a pair o' tongs yestreen, which weighed in the smithy just twa pun. Sae stand by and I'll soon weigh you 't' pound butter." Producing the tongs in triumph, she put one leg in the scale, and let the other hang out. The beam got its swing, and the stranger carried off his butter, highly satisfied with his experience of a Galloway pound.

MAKE A BEGINNING.—Remember in all things that if you do not begin you will never come to an end. The first weed pulled up in the garden, the first seed in the ground, the first shilling put in the savings' bank, and the first mile traveled on a journey, are all important things, then make a beginning and thereby a hope, a promise, a pledge, an assurance that you are in earnest with what you have undertaken. How many a poor, idle, erring, hesitating outcast is now creeping and crawling through the world, who might have held up his head and prospered, if, instead of putting off his resolutions of industry and amendment, he had only made a beginning.

YOUNG MEN PAY ATTENTION.—Don't be a loafer, don't call yourself a loafer, don't keep a loafer's company, don't hang about loafing places. Better work hard for nothing and board yourself, than sit around day after day, stand around corners with your hands in your pockets. Better for your own mind, better for your own respect. Bustle about, if you mean to have anything to bustle about for. Many a poor physician has obtained a real patient by riding hard to attend an imaginary one. A quire of paper tied with red tape, carried under a lawyer's arm may procure him his first case and make his fortune. Such is the world, to him that hath shall be given. Quit drowsing and complaining; keep busy and your mind changes.

"Gorse to do it," never made a fortune, built a house or won a man. "Gorse to do it" has been the theme of more people than would fill the corners of a dozen New Yorks. "The man who is always 'gorse to do it,' rarely, if ever, does it." The only thing that he does do is to go out of the world without doing it. If he has a task which must be done, he announces, with a deal of boasting and a great waste of words, time and breath, that he is "going to do it." And while he is thus "going to do it," somebody else who is not suspected of "going to do it," does it, and reaps the reward.

Forty-five years ago this autumn 1,600 bushels of potatoes were delivered at the State Prison in Concord at 10 cents a bushel. Now they are selling for $1.20 cents a bushel.

Twins are becoming fashionable at Bridgeport, Connecticut. One physician announces four cases within the last ten or twelve days.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 3, 1894.

PAID MAN.—Just before General Russell received his wound from which the blood was running on his forehead, he was still pointing his horse and was supporting the important, magnificent that resulted in victory and saved our army. One of his officers rode up to him and said, "General you should leave the field, your arm is bleeding." The General replied, "It is bleeding, but I can't see how we are driving them." Those were the last words the General was known to utter, for almost instantly he was struck by a portion of a shell and fell dead.
